This image shows a full page of graph paper. It features a uniform grid of small squares formed by thin black lines. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor dust specks and faint smudges. There are no markings, text, or drawings on the grid.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a visible vertical crease down the center, suggesting it was once folded. A faint grid pattern is visible across the page, with horizontal lines dividing it into three main sections and vertical lines creating columns. The paper is heavily marked with numerous dark spots, stains, and smudges, particularly along the edges and in the center, indicating significant age and wear. There is no text or other markings on the page.
